

NEW PAPER TRUST NOW LOOMING UP

Government Investigating
What May Be Resurrected Combine.

The Government is after an alleged paper trust.

The Department of Justice has several experts in the field, and officials of the Department hope that they may have the results of the investigation in hand for consideration the first of the year.

When the Attorney General receives a copy of the resolution adopted yesterday in New York by the American Publishers' Association, calling for prosecution of a combination among paper manufacturers, he will announce the action already taken by the Government and solicit the aid of the association in the investigation.

The Department of Justice in wondering whether it has been the victim of sharp practice. It secured the voluntary dissolution of a paper trust, May 31, 1906, after an action in equity had been begun, December, 1904, in the United States courts in Minnesota, under direction of Attorney General Moody, as the result of an investigation conducted by his predecessor, Philander
C. Knox.

The General Paper Company, as the trust was known, appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States from the orders of the circuit courts of Minnesota and Wisconsin, calling for the production of books and papers. When
as the result of an investigation conducted by his predecessor, Philander
C. Knox.

Officials are now debating whether the Government, in view of the fact that it had won a victory in the highest tribunal, should not have gone ahead and required the production of books and papers from the trust, in order to avoid just such a contingency as it is feared has arisen.

The investigation into the paper manufacturing business will be pushed with unusual zeal.

EWAN JUSTICE TO TURN SAILOR

Ewan Justice is going to be a sailor, but not a sailor who goes aloft. If Ewan should go aloft once, and the ship as a result should list to port, a splash might follow and then the tide would come in out of the regular order. Ewan's displacement is not of the ordinary seashore variety.

Mr. Justice has been connected with the New York World, attached to the Washington bureau, for twelve years, and is known to all the newspaper men of this city. It was thought he was a fixture of journalism until Gustav Schwab, of the North German Lloyd line, met and lured him away from the Row. Mr. Schwab recognized in the newspaper man one which could be of great service to the company as a publicity promoter and offered him a salary that he couldn't afford to refuse. As a result his resignation was handed in to the World, and next week he will take up his new duties.

Among other things he will have to meet all boats down the bay at New York harbor. At last accounts there was talk of an excursion outside the Narrows to give the curious an opportunity to see him take his first ladder.

Mr. Justice's contract is for two years and there is no doubt that he will prove a valuable addition to the steamship company's staff.

Y. M. C. A. ROUND-UP AT THE FALLS TONIGHT

The managers of the Y. M. C. A. have arranged to hold the fall round-up of its members this evening, by an excursion to Great Falls. The special train leaves the Georgetown bridge at 7:30 o'clock. Bonfires, corn roast, watermelon feast, and music are on the program.

The Washington baseball management will be hosts of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon next, when the Chicago White Sox play the Nationals.

If the weather is favorable tomorrow, the annual September outing of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will be held. The event will be a typical boys' outing and picnic, with all the usual games and fun. The party will leave the building promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

President Should Suit Policies to Constitution; J. H. Bankhead Declares

Might Have New Fundamental Law With Each Executive.

States Need Not Exercise Rights Reserved to Them.

John H. Bankhead, defeated for Congress by Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, but now United States Senator from Alabama, and who is in Washington for the first time since his election to the seat of the late Senator Morgan, makes a vigorous defense of the Constitution of the United States, particularly in its provisions relating to State rights.

He expresses himself forcibly against accommodating the old instrument to the varying moods of Presidents as they come and go. There is no necessity for any change to suit the policies of the Administration, he asserts.

Suit Policies to Constitution.

"I think," he said, "it would be better for the President to adapt his policies to the Constitution rather than to adapt the Constitution to his policies. We might have another President entertaining different views, and if the Constitution must be adapted to the policies of the President, we might have to have a new Constitution for each new President."

The men who constructed the Constitution of the United States were wise, capable, and far-sighted. Under this Constitution we have grown great.
There is nothing the matter with it, and we do not need a new one. What we need is to adhere to the one we have, depending upon the courts to construe it.
I am utterly opposed to the idea of a constitutional convention; there is no necessity for it, and it would certainly result from an attempt to make a new Constitution.

Written by Patriots.

"While the framers of the Constitution were not omnipotent nor omniscient, they were wise and patriotic, and their experience enabled them to look a long way ahead. Moreover, they were not guided by considerations of party advantage, but were patriotically endeavoring to lay the ground plan of a great government, which they succeeded in doing, beyond what could have been the fairest expectation.

"We could not hope at this time to have a constitutional convention composed of able and more patriotic men, and certainly such a convention at this time would not be as free from party considerations as was the old constitutional convention.

States Needn't Exercise Rights.

"There is nothing in the argument because States may fail to exercise certain rights reserved to them that the Federal Government shall usurp the power.
If States have a right to certain things, they have also the right to refrain from exercising them. If they were compelled to do without the privilege of refraining from doing it, it would be an obligation upon them, not a right. The rights reserved to the States are at their discretion and the failure to exercise these rights is as much a matter of their choice as the exercise of them. The rights reserved to the States are their own, and it is not within the authority of the Federal Government to deprive them of these reserved rights. It would not be well if such power existed in the Federal Government.

"The Constitution of the United States is not to be accommodated to the opinions of Presidents. These opinions and policies growing out of them must be accommodated to the Constitution. We need no new Constitution, but we need to have regard for the one upon which our Government rests, not violating it nor seeking to violate it. The courts, by the Constitution itself, may determine that which the Constitution does not permit is not valid."

COL. J. E. GREER DEAD AT GOVERNORS ISLAND

The death of Col. John E. Greer, of the Ordnance Department, United States Army, occurred at the New York arsenal, Governors Island, N. Y., yesterday, according to a telegram that reached the War Department.

Colonel Greer was born in Pennsylvania, November 4, 1844, and was appointed a cadet to the Military Academy from Pennsylvania, July 1, 1863. He reached the grade of colonel January 19, 1904.

LET'S ALL TREMBLE, HERE'S THE REASON

"Expert" Says Japs Could Capture Pacific Coast
in 24 Hours.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20.—E. H.
Fowler, of the Japanese-Korean Exclusion League, declares that the people of the United States have no idea yet of the Japanese-Korean situation. He says:

"The Japanese here are almost without exception trained soldiers, able-bodied men, and they can be brought together as a unit. This was done in Vancouver at the time of the riot, when at the call of the bugle every able-bodied Jap in the town was called together as a perfect military order. The quickly assembled army sent a scout out to ascertain the state of affairs, and found it was not so serious as was feared, and as they had been called together by the assembly call, they were given the call to dismiss, and they all retreated in perfect order."

"Every Jap in the country is kept track of—he must make regular reports to his consul, so that the Emperor can know at once exactly where every one of his subjects is, in case he is wanted for military duty. So perfect is this organization that within a few days' time Japan could mobilize on the Pacific coast an army of 100,000 trained and armed soldiers. This army could capture every gun and every arsenal on the Pacific coast within twenty-four hours."

JOY LOSES HIS WAY HUNTING FOR WIFE

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Sept. 20.—Mrs.
Charles F. Joy, the hostess of Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, who was lost in the Grand Canyon, has been found, but her husband, ex-Congressman Joy, was reported missing today.

He lost his way while searching for her.
Mrs. Joy was found by a searching party of Navajo Indians. The Indians and hundreds of others were on the hunt for fifteen hours before Mrs. Joy was found. She was almost frozen, and was greatly exhausted from exposure and lack of food.

She was lying at a point about eight miles back of the rim of the Grand Canyon in a timbered tract. She was taken to the hotel and revived, and will probably not suffer any serious effects from her experience.

NEED ARMY CANTEEN IN CUBA, SAYS BARRY

The W. C. T. U. white ribbon, anti-canteen, "dry" army law displeases the American soldiers in Cuba. They want the canteen, and the real need of it is apparent to the officers. Brig.
Gen. Thomas H. Barry, commanding the army of Cuban pacification stations, in his first annual report, which was made public at the War Department this afternoon, recites the liquor problems in that country and describes the need of the canteen as the only solution.

General Barry, following in the footsteps of the recommendations of General Grant, commanding the Department of the East is opposed to the detail of army officers for social and other purposes away from their commands.

Sothorn Clashes With Playwright Over Play's Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Among the actor folk of the Lambs Club they are quipping, yarns concerning a clash of views between E. H. Sothorn and Laurence Irving as to the title under which the American actor should produce the work of the young British playwright in Chicago next week.

Neither of these ardent souls has cultivated the faculty of deference to the prejudices of another in driving a bargain and the result of the collision between an irresistible force and an immovable body—such as happened in this instance—was a terrifying outburst of the wrath of genius.

Mr. Irving's little play, "The Inheritance of the Meek," is obviously a misnomer in a land where there are no meek.

In offering the play under the title
"The Fool Hath Said in His Heart There is No God," Mr. Sothorn is only a trifle more eccentric than Mr. Irving.
Mr. Hilyard at the Lambs is said to have proposed a compromise title for the play bill, "The Heart Cry of the Fool."

EARLE'S AFFINITY FORCED TO HIDE

BETHLEHEM, N. H., Sept. 20.— Curiosity seekers have driven from their summer home here the family of Miss Julia Kuttner, the "affinity" of Perdi-nand Pinney Earle, the artist. Lately there has been an unusually large number of excursionists in town, and the Kuttner home was one of the "sights." The Kuttners stood it as long as they could, but finally gave up, and left yesterday for their home in New York.
Earle, who had been here for a week, went to New York Wednesday night.

WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE; CHARGES UNFAITHFULNESS

A suit for absolute divorce was instituted today in the District Supreme Court by Mabel Johnson against Elijah Johnson, on the grounds of infidelity.
It is stated that the couple were married in Atlantic City, July 27, 1904.

After six months of married life, it is alleged the defendant treated the complainant in an abusive and extremely cruel manner.

BABY BURIED ALIVE IN HEAP OF ASHES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—A newborn baby was found partially buried in an ash heap in the yard of 474 Syles street, and Mary Rydenock, who lives in the house, is under arrest, charged with having buried her child alive.

The police say that the woman was overcome with weakness before she could complete the ghastly work, and had to go back to her room. She was found in bed alone and very ill. She was taken to the Frankford Hospital, where a policeman is on guard at the door of her room.

OLD-TIME NAVY MEN JOKE HUNTRESS' TIMID SAILORS

Old-time salts of the Navy Department are having a jolly laugh on the timid sailors of the Missouri naval militia, to whom was recently assigned the United States Huntress for practice purposes. The Missouri boys went down to Pensacola to take over the ship, but en route from that point to New Orleans they ran into a wave and put hastily back to port. This delay occasioned some uneasiness on the part of their friends out in the "Show Me" State, and the Navy Department now alays all fears by announcing that the Huntress once again is safely on her way to New Orleans, with old-time mariners at the helm. From New Orleans the Huntress will be taken up the Mississippi to St. Louis.

here. He was a country postmaster.

DESERTED CHILD OF DR. GLADDEN SUES FOR $5,000

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 20.—Suit for damages in the sum of $5,000 for breach of promise to marry was filed here today by Miss Mercedes Gladden, daughter of the Rev. W. H. Gladden, of Youngstown, Ohio, against I. C. Smutz, of New Haven, Pa.

It is alleged by the plaintiff she had promised to marry Smutz, and they had agreed on Wednesday, September 11, as the date for the wedding.

On the day before the ceremony Smutz notified her he could not be present and broke the engagement.

Men's Suits at $15, $18 & $20

Good chance to show what can be done in providing clothing at these prices. Not too high—not too low—just right to give us a big variety of fabrics to make up and not skimp quality anywhere.

The tailoring is done in our own factory and if any guarantee of its thoroughness is needed it's sufficient to say the work is done under direction and inspection of men vitally interested in its success.

Every good style model is represented—extreme and conservative. You can come here for a suit at $15 to $20 and know you'll be satisfied.

An Increase of over 25% in Dividends To Policy Holders

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has paid more in dividends to policy holders than any other company in the world. Since organization it has returned in dividends over $118,000,000. As a result chiefly of increased earnings and decreased expenses the annual dividends to policy holders this year, on policies issued in 1905, will be 25% to 30% more than in 1906.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company feels sure its policy-holders will be pleased with this great reduction in cost. The news may be doubly welcome now when increased cost in other lines seems everywhere the order of the day. If you have others for whose continued care you are concerned, you should learn for yourself how and how cheaply it can be guaranteed by the staunchest life insurance company in the world.
